Being patient and optimistic are the two most important disciplines to achieve success in life.

In the 6th chapter of the Joy of Giving Week, the young toddlers learnt the synchronization of body and soul. The meditation session made them feel relieved and more joyous.

We heartily gratify all the members of Spiritual Research Cell, JECRC for making this act of giving a great success.

Giving in its true sense is not just an act of generosity but it also gives us pleasure and satisfaction.

And drenching ourselves in the same pleasure, on the fifth day of Joy Of Giving Week, the young toddlers were given a lesson on the usage of the First-Aid Kit in day to day life. The mixed expressions of curiosity and happiness on learning new things on these innocent faces made us feel more contented than ever.

Security and safety are two critical issues that behold in everyone's mind at every place and to be able enough to protect ourselves is the need of the hour!

Realizing this need and continuing our unique way of celebrating the festival of philanthropy, today in its third chapter of the Joy of Giving Week, the young souls were given a lesson on "self defence" to protect themselves.

We heartily gratify all those who took their precious time and educated the toddlers.

Giving is not just an endeavour, it's an eternal feeling of pleasure and contentment! And with this immense pleasure, on the very first day of the biggest festival of giving the young minds were given a lecture on the "Education of Soul" during the visit to Akshaypatra. The kids were enthralled to see the amazing short movies and were mesmerized by the enchants of "Hare Krishna".

We owe a gesture of gratitude to the whole Akshaypatra team for adding beautiful colors to the festival of giving and making this visit of ours a great success.

There is no greater joy than the Joy of Giving!

The aura once again got blended with colors of happiness when the 7th and the last chapter of Joy of Giving Week brought loads of winsome smiles to the naive faces as the Goodies were distributed. The young toddlers got more than ever delighted on seeing their wishes getting fulfilled.

We heartily thank all the noble souls who made the Joy of Giving Week 2k16 a very thriving and memorable event.
